

Target Market Determination – Managed Accounts – MDA / SMA

Legal disclaimer

This Target Market Determination (TMD) is required under section 994B of the Corporations Act 2001 (Cth) (the Act). It sets out the class of consumers for whom the product, including its key attributes, would likely be consistent with their likely objectives, financial situation and needs. In addition, the TMD outlines the triggers to review the target market and certain other information. It forms part of Implemented Portfolios Limited's design and distribution arrangements for the product.

This document is not a product disclosure statement and is not a summary of the product features or terms of the product. This document does not take into account any person's individual objectives, financial situation or needs. Persons interested in acquiring this product should carefully read the Product Disclosure Statement, MDA Contract or other offer document for Implemented Portfolios Limited's MDA Service before making a decision whether to invest through this product.

Important terms used in this TMD are defined in the TMD Definitions which supplement this document. Capitalised terms have the meaning given to them in the product's PDS/MDA Contract, unless otherwise defined. The PDS/MDA Contract can be obtained by contacting Implemented Portfolios Limited.

Description of Target Market

This part is required under section 994B(5)(b) of the Act.

TMD indicator key

The Consumer Attributes for which the product is likely to be appropriate have been assessed using a red/amber/green rating methodology with appropriate colour coding:

| | | |
|------------------|------------------------------|---------------------------------|
| In target market | Potentially in target market | Not considered in target market |

Instructions

In the tables below, Column 1, Consumer Attributes, indicates a description of the likely objectives, financial situation and needs of the class of consumers that are considering this product. Column 2, TMD indicator, indicates whether a customer meeting the attribute in column 1 is likely to be in the target market for this product.

Generally, a consumer is unlikely to be in the target market for the product if:

- one or more of their Consumer Attributes correspond to a red rating, or
- three or more of their Consumer Attributes correspond to an amber rating.

Definitions of terms are in the attachment or otherwise in the PDS/MDA Contract.

Investment products and diversification

A consumer (or class of consumer) may intend to hold a product or managed account as part of a diversified portfolio (typically with an intended product use of satellite/small allocation or core component). In such circumstances, the product or managed account should be assessed against the consumer's attributes for the relevant portion of the portfolio, rather than the consumer's portfolio as a whole. For example, a consumer may seek to construct a conservative portfolio with a satellite/small allocation to growth assets. In this case, it may be likely that a product or managed account with a High or Very High risk/return profile is consistent with the consumer's objectives for that allocation notwithstanding that the risk/return profile of the consumer as a whole is Low or Medium. In making this assessment, distributors should consider all features of a product (including its key attributes).

The portfolio will include limited exposure to cash and income producing securities, with the majority of exposures focused on property and equities, both Australian and international. In general this product could suit an investor who is less concerned about potential of capital loss and has an investment time horizon to recoup capital. They have sufficient income already and are looking for a capital gain over the long term, and understands that the value of the account could fluctuate significantly over the period that it is held. |

Implemented Portfolios Limited has used an internal risk measurement process for the purposes of this description which uses back-tested data on the proprietary asset allocation and investment methodology.
